

World Bank Webinar

How to Identify, Track and Pursue World Bank-Funded Projects

Worldwide opportunities in environmental sectors

Learn how you can take advantage of global environmental tenders made possible through World Bank funding. Join us on our webinar, Wednesday, June 24, 2009, and learn how to find and track bid opportunities for overseas environmental projects via the World Bank.

Hear it from the experts

This timely webinar will be presented by David Fulton, U.S. Department of Commerce Liaison to the World Bank, with the support of the U.S. and Foreign Commercial Service's Global Environmental Team (a worldwide network of trade professionals helping U.S. environmental companies pursue international business).

After the program, schedule your own one-on-one counseling session with U.S. Department of Commerce/Commercial Service staff at the World Bank to review opportunities in your sectors and markets of interest.

Fast track to basics

If you've ever thought about pursuing World Bank projects, or you just need a refresher, this webinar offers an excellent way to learn the basics in less than 90 minutes, from the convenience of your own office. (Please note that World Bank opportunities are best pursued by companies with prior international experience, rather than by first-time exporters.)

Don't miss this strategic presentation. Register today!

Register today

www.buyusa.gov/environmental/wbwebinar.html

Date: June 24, 2009

Time: 2:00-3:30 pm EDT

Venue: Your desk

Deadline: Apply by COB June 23

Cost: $50

Questions?

Sandra Collazo: Tel. (703) 235-0333

E-mail: sandra.collazo@mail.doc.gov

Bill Cline: (775) 784-5203

E-mail: bill.cline@mail.doc.gov

Jessica Arnold: Tel. (202) 482-2026

E-mail: jessica.arnold@mail.doc.gov

INTERNATIONAL TRADE
ADMINISTRATION